

Seller Representation Schedule (Draft)

Draft Schedule of Seller Representations and Warranties

Document ID	DR-087
Prepared by / owner	Priya Raman
Date	25 January 2026
Classification	Strictly Confidential — Project Atlas
Status	DRAFT — subject to contract
Counterparties	VistaPort Media Inc. / Northstar Mobile Holdings plc

DRAFT for negotiation — subject to contract and to completion of the Disclosure Schedule. Prepared by the Office of the General Counsel. No representation is given except as and when set out in the executed definitive agreement.

Schedule of Representations and Warranties of the Seller. This schedule sets out the draft representations and warranties to be given by VistaPort Media Inc. (the “Seller”) to Northstar Mobile Holdings plc (the “Buyer”) in connection with the proposed transaction, each given as at the date of the definitive agreement and at Completion, and in each case subject to the matters fairly disclosed in the Disclosure Schedule.

Part A — Cybersecurity and data protection

Representation 7.1 (Security incidents). Save as fairly disclosed in the Disclosure Schedule, in the twenty-four (24) months prior to the date of this Agreement the Group has not suffered any material cybersecurity incident, material data breach, or material unauthorised access to or acquisition of personal data held by the Group that has required, or that the Seller has determined requires, notification to any regulator or to affected data subjects.

Representation 7.2 (Compliance). Save as fairly disclosed, the Group has in all material respects complied with applicable data-protection and privacy laws and with its material contractual obligations concerning the security of personal data.

Representation 7.3 (Controls). The Group maintains information-security controls that are reasonable and appropriate for a business of its nature and scale.

Part B — Regulatory matters

Representation 8.1 (Regulatory). Save as fairly disclosed in the Disclosure Schedule, there are no material undisclosed regulatory matters, investigations or enforcement proceedings pending or, so far as the Seller is aware, threatened against any Group company by any data-protection authority or other regulator.

Representation 8.2 (Correspondence). The Seller has made available to the Buyer the material regulatory correspondence of the Group.

Part C — Accounting and reserves

Representation 9.1 (Reserves). The reserves and provisions reflected in the FY2025 draft financial statements are, in the Seller's view, adequate in all material respects for the liabilities and contingencies that are reasonably estimable as at the date of those statements.

Representation 9.2 (Subsequent events). Save as fairly disclosed, since the date of the FY2025 draft financial statements there has been no event that would require a material adjustment to those statements.

Disclosure Schedule — extract (draft)

The following matters are scheduled against the representations above. The Disclosure Schedule remains in preparation and is subject to completion.

Ref	Against rep	Disclosed matter (draft)
DS-7.1(a)	7.1	Routine security operations, including an ongoing credential-hygiene programme and associated user communications, are conducted in the ordinary course.
DS-7.1(b)	7.1	The Group operates certain legacy systems pending decommissioning under its IT modernisation programme.
DS-8.1(a)	8.1	The Group responds from time to time to routine and informal regulator correspondence in the ordinary course.
DS-9.1(a)	9.1	A trust-and-safety contingency has been recognised in the FY2025 draft financial statements (see DR-018 and DR-029).

The disclosure-schedule entries above are drafts. They describe routine operations and do not, on their face, disclose any specific incident, regulator inquiry or quantified exposure. Diligence readers should read these draft representations together with the regulatory correspondence log (DR-079), the disclosure-controls memo (DR-086), the insurance materials (DR-081, DR-082) and the contingency memo (DR-029). Subject to contract; subject to completion of the Disclosure Schedule.
